

```
60 <?php
61     class phone {
62         protected function software () {
63             return "this phone is a regular phone";
64         }
65     }
66
67     class smartPhone {
68         public function OperationgSystem () {
69             return "add value to make a smarter phone";
70         }
71     }
72
73     class phoneTouch extends phone,smartPhone {
74         public function capability () {
75             return $this->software();
76         }
77     }
78
79     $samsung = new phoneTouch();
80     echo $samsung->capability();
81     // Parse error: syntax error, unexpected ',', expecting
82
83     ?>
```